BINDER SPEAKS TO LPP CLUB

Harry Binder, Quebec Organizer of the Labour Progressive Party, spoke to the LPP club yesterday in the Union Clubroom. Mr. Binder discussed Geneva and the future of the Middle East.

Mr. Binder, in discussing the Geneva "summit" conference, said that no outstanding difficulties had been solved at the conference. However, he maintained that all powers at the conference realized that there are only two ways to reconcile the differences between the countries of the world: either by war or by negotiation. "Geneva," he said, "showed that neither side is able to enforce its point of view by force or by preponderant strength."

Mr. Binder went on to discuss the situation in the Middle East and to explain the reasons for arms shipment to Egypt by Czechoslovakia. He said that the United States were attempting to sway the neutral nations of Asia, and that "Geneva does not guarantee to any imperialist power its right to continue its imperialist rule."

Moral Policy Lecture Theme

Close to two hundred people last night heard Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, President of Acadia University, speak on "Moral Integrity in International Policy". Dr. Kirkconnell's lecture was the first event in McGill's Ukrainian Week. Dr. Kirkconnell surveyed Canada's moral policy, which, he felt, had wandered "far from the straight and narrow".

Mistakes in Policy

The postwar disasters, he felt, were due to mistakes in policy during the war. All of the wartime propaganda showed Russia as a great and democratic country, when Marx-Beninsm is a "programme of political dynamite . . . pledged to our destruction". Dr. Kirkconnell said that Roosevelt "gambled away the freedom of a dozen nations" by not saying what he felt.

"The same voluntary repression of the truth was evident in Canada and Great Britain as well," he said.

Canadian National Film Board supplied films of Russia to the Canadian public which were "a series of lies". Because of this "campaign of lying, instigated by Roosevelt", Russia was able to absorb a dozen free countries and one-quarter of the human race.

East-West Tension

Dr. Kirkconnell said that the current East-West tension is a creation of Soviet policy, and that to fight it, the West would do well not to capitulate to it and to adopt a tougher policy towards the Communist world.

Russia's formal policy statements, he said, are apt to be misleading. He recalled the recent incident where Khrushchev, at a cocktail party, remarked that Soviet policy would not get softer. These random comments, Dr. Kirkconnell said, give proper insight into what is actually happening.

Ignorance

The Russian people, according to Dr. Kirkconnell, know next to nothing about Canada. Those Russians who came into contact with visitors are coached for any meetings. In one year, only fourteen articles, a total of 323 printed lines, about Canada appeared in Pravda, and these articles dealt almost entirely with Communist propaganda.

Dr. Kirkconnell said that we should beware of the "catnip of appeasement" by which "we shall perish and we shall deserve to perish".

Constitutional Change Before A New Union

The first meeting of the Students' Society of McGill University for the 1955-56 session will be held at 1 pm, on Wednesday, November 23 in the Ballroom of the Union.

The proposed Union House Committee Constitution will be one of the main items on the agenda. Amendments to the aforesaid document can only be made by a two-thirds majority vote of the students present at a regular meeting of the Students' Society. A quorum of 300 students composes a regular meeting.

The proposed constitution however, is more than an amendment of the present one. It is a complete revision.

At the moment the constitution provides for a House Committee of six members: a President, a Women's Vice-President, a Men's Vice-President, a Social Events Director, an Equipment Pool Director, and a New Union Committee Chairman.

At the present time, the President is also the Social Events Director. The New Union Committee Chairman although an active executive, is only sitting in on meetings to get the practical and necessary information for the planning of the new Union.

Pyramid Shape

The proposed constitution allows for a House Committee with no limit in number of members. It takes the general pyramid shape prevalent in many campus organizations, and which exists at most Unions elsewhere.

At the bottom of the pyramid would be the members of eight proposed Union Sub-Committees, such as: P.A., Cafeteria, Program, Poster, Publicity, Social, etc.

There is no limit to the number of members on each of these, nor is there a limit to the number of Sub-Committees.

Board of Managers

Each of these committees would have a Chairman (or Co-Chairmen, as the case may be) and these together with the Executive: — President, Women's V. P., and Men's V. P., will form the Board of Managers.

This would mean that the House Committee will consist of two parts.

1. A Board of Managers consisting of
  - a. the Executive
  - b. the Chairmen of Sub-Committees
2. The Sub-Committees themselves.

Five Ex-Officio Members

In addition to the pyramid structure, provision has been made for five ex-officio members of the Board, they would be: New Union Committee representative, the President of the Students' Society, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Students' Society, the President of the Women's Union, and a representative from the Post-Graduate Society. Upon the completion of the new Union, the first of the above positions will be deleted.

Structural Problem

"Perhaps the first thing that comes to mind about the election of the Union President," explained Les Jonas, President of the Union, "is that he is elected only by the male members of the Students' Society. Proposing that women vote for the person running for this position, touches the fringes of a much bigger structural problem: — that of the Women's Union and its relationship to the Students' Society, and hence will not be dealt with at this time."

The present constitution does not put any experience requisite on the nominees for the three elected positions in the Union. If properly nominated and of the right sex for the particular position, 'anyone' can run for President (male), Women's and Men's V. P. of the Union.

Experience Requisites

According to the proposed Constitution one must have been an active sub-committee member to:

1. Be considered for appointment to chairman of a Sub-Committee (and hence sit on the Board of Managers);
2. Be eligible to run for Men's or Women's Vice-President. Furthermore to be eligible for the position of President, one must first have served on the Board of Managers.

Not This March

The Constitution makes allowances for the fact that these experience requisites can not be enforced in the coming March elections. This is because there are no sub-committees now in existence; the present House Committee does not resemble closely enough the proposed Board of Managers; and because the first Board of Managers will of necessity be chosen arbitrarily by the Executive, rather than by a retiring Board.

The proposed two year experience requisite to be placed on the President (i.e.; that he first serve on the Board of Managers in some capacity) will not be enforced until the time of a new

MARV GAMEROFF TO SPEAK TODAY

Marv Gameroff, former Students' Society president, will be the guest speaker at a special meeting of the Debating Union, today at 1 pm in the Walter Stewart Room.

Gameroff has represented McGill on innumerable occasions as an intercollegiate debater, having participated at the Pan-American Oratory contest in 1952. He also was ASUS debating champion 1949-50, Papineau Cup winner in 1951, and a Gold Key debater. He is now in his first year of Medicine at the University.

At this meeting he will discuss the approach of American university debaters and how it can be countered in intercollegiate competition.

This is a part of the special programme which the Intercollegiate Debating Committee is conducting this year in order to prepare local debaters for the Burlington competition which will take place at the end of next week.

Editorial

FOR DIGNIFIED EMBRACE

The list of the Rights of Man has many varied and diverse components. Over the centuries it has been added to, deleted from, and generally mauled. In addition to such basic rights as freedom of speech, worship, intellect etc., we humbly submit another; the Right to the Dignified Embrace with members of the opposite sex. Apparently the Westmount Police do not agree.

Westmount Mountain is a massive hump of stately concrete with only the very top left comparatively bare and unravished. For years the younger populace of Montreal, and McGill students in particular, have retreated here with their dates in the hope of a little privacy, a moment of quiet contemplation. There is nothing immoral or distasteful about this. Since time immemorial man has retreated to nature for the peace and the solitude for which his soul cried out. We see no reason why this cannot be done equally successfully in couples. The collective soul of the couple should be twice as cleansed.

But alas, like birds of prey the Westmount Police have been swooping down upon innocent couples. As they sit parked amid a serene enjoyment of each other's company, their solitude is rudely shattered by the police who have taken the law into their own hands (which at first glance seems reasonable). Embarrassed and chastised they are sent on their way often with a police car as an escort.

But why? As any man or woman can tell you, men and women are very different. To study and evaluate the opposite sex is a matter of essential education, used in the broad sense of the term, of any young person. It is a subject for devout study and Dignified Embracing, conducted under the most rigid rules of procedure, is a very necessary part of the curriculum. As far as its value for practical study is concerned, Dignified Embracing might be regarded as roughly analogous to the geologist's field trips — an integral part of the course.

Who then are the city fathers protecting in so directing their police force? Are they attempting to protect ourselves from ourselves or themselves from ourselves or what? This is a most serious question. The time has come when we must ask them to reconsider their position and allow a proper academic freedom on the Mountain. And we must act now before this trend to deprive us of one of our most precious rights, the Right to the Dignified Embrace, becomes a national or even international campaign. We must preserve our freedom. If we cannot we can only paraphrase the inspiring words of Churchill: Never would so much have been taken from so many by so few.

OPTIMISM

"Why is the McGill Daily,"

Said the pessimist sourly.

"Thank God," said the optimist, gaily,

"It isn't hourly."

The above bit of verse was passed on to us by Professor R. F. Scott. We are very happy that he remembered us.

Whether our readers would side with the optimist or with the pessimist only they can say. Educated guesses could be made, but there seems to be little choice. It is a "heads you win, tails we lose" proposition.

For our part we have emerged from our editorial despondency for long enough to ally ourselves with the optimist.

Staff's Poor English

Sir:

On Monday, November 7, Ruth Roskies wrote an article on the standards of education at McGill. I agree with her views, but there is one point she forgot to mention. Perhaps she simply omitted in on the grounds that it might lead her into trouble, but the fact that I saw no reference to the educational standards of the teaching staff remains.

I intend no offense. The qualifications of all those employed to teach at McGill must be high, or else I am sure they would not be here. I do think, however, that all members of the teaching staff should have at least a high school knowledge of English. This, I fear is not the case in the Faculty of Engineering, of which, I may add, I am a member.

I have shuddered through many lectures in my years here, listening to one distortion of the language after another. I wish I could remember them all, but fortunately I cannot. I will, however, quote three, which I have heard in the past few days.

One lecturer quite innocently concluded a sentence with "... the temperature at which the gas was at." Another makes frequent use of the word "height." I will concede the fact that this word exists, or rather existed, for it is a very ancient Anglo Saxon word. Demosthenes, however, could not convince me that this man uses the word in its Anglo Saxon form. He uses it as a corruption of "height" which is, I believe, the accepted word these days. I may be doing the gentleman a great injustice, but judging from his use of the language generally, — I doubt it.

The crowning climax came from this same lecturer when he asked: "Is there any more questions?"

Gentlemen, I put before you the following situation: hundreds of poor first-year engineers, fresh from bad Canadian and American high-schools, speaking only a vague form of our beautiful language, are subjected to this sort of ignorance from their leaders at a time when their young uneducated minds are most susceptible to guidance. Is this not a crime? I do not wonder that engineers are labelled "crude" and "Uncouth" by outsiders. First year Artsmen are, on the whole, just as bad, but they do have the benefit of educated professors.

I hasten to add that not all our teachers are as bad in this respect as I have described. Some, in fact, are positively pedantic in their efforts to adhere to the rules of grammar, but I think you will agree that a few can easily spoil the reputation of a large number.

I would like to finish this letter with a word of congratulations to the editors on their sense of humor. The letter printed on Monday concerning religion was really very funny.

D. J. Howard,
Elec. Eng. 4.

A Poor Solution

Sir:

Most people will wholeheartedly agree, in principle, with Miss Roskies' findings on the subject of

Letters to the Editor

"Education for the Ignorant." Those in the negative category would no doubt include the individuals who under Miss Roskies' intent would not have reached our famous halls of learning.

It should be pointed out, however, that an entrance mark of 75 per cent would automatically rule out those students, who although fully capable of higher education, just did not see the "light" while in High School. Miss Roskies will agree that this is not too terrible a sin. I know of two men currently holding assistant professorships—one of whom is at McGill and the other at the University of Pennsylvania—who would have been deprived of the privilege and opportunity of attending our university simply because their matriculation marks did not reach the standard Miss Roskies suggests. It is obvious that the raising of entrance qualifications would in many cases be unfair, and therefore, a poor solution to the problem.

I would recommend instead that the university take advantage of the references which high school principals supposedly supply to the purpose of refusing admittance to those students who just don't have "goods to benefit" from their four years and $1200 as Miss Roskies aptly puts it.

I might add in closing that Miss Roskies should know better than to quote $1200 as the price for four years of McGill's education. It seems substantially lower than what my cheques have been made out for the past four Septembers.

Len Pinsky, B.Sc. IV.

A Complaint

Sir:

In Monday's issue you published a first page article about the Redpath Library. In the article you stated that the library authorities would try to curb chatter which is so prominent. This is a very laudable action on the part of the authorities.

However, in the 1st paragraph you printed something which had nothing to do with chatter. You stated that this winter overcoats would not be permitted in the library. You mentioned that students should leave their coats in the lockers of the Arts Building and use the tunnel. May I remind you that the Engineers do not have a boiling pedestrian tunnel to the library. They do not have lockers in the Arts Building.

We pay our fees for library services like everyone else. We are entitled to free use of the library subject to regulations, and we should not be obliged to leave our overcoats in the Engineering Building.

M. A. LeBlanc, B.Eng. III.

On Dame Hypocrisy

Always remember to be extremely suspicious of statistics G. K. For the sake of illustration, it was once reported that attendance at a certain U.S. college was truly a marriage boon for girls, so much so that half of the co-eds in the graduating class, it was emphasized, were in wedlock. However, goaded on by curiosity, someone decided to investigate further and he discovered that there were only two girls in the class. Phenomenal indeed!

Suppose now it were true that the encroachment of immorality upon our university was as deep as you erroneously maintain, but still veiled by a natural, normal and human sense of shame. Then we should devote our energies not to the extinction of this sense of shame but to the exploitation of it as a springboard to a return to morality and righteousness — it was well believed by this time that the "little Kinseys" as a whole were a dead or at least a moribund breed.

No, we have no wish, G.K., to be reduced to animality and deprived of our heart-felt, elemental, God-given dignity, however unhappily eager some may be not to stand alone in the realm of moral destitution.

Paul A. Hudon,
Law student.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

by Lorraine Brender
Swimming

The Intercollegiate Swimming team will be splashing their way to Western U. on Nov. 26. This year's team will be minus the precision twins, the Lindsays, nevertheless the enthusiasms shown at the intramural swimming meets should increase our chances at London. For all girls who were asked to report, (Daily, Nov. 8), the speed practice is today at 5 pm. In addition, diving coaching is available on Tuesday nights at 7:30. Intercollegiate try-outs will take place on Nov. 15.

Watershow

All routine directors and the costume committee are reminded to meet on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 5 pm in the Women's Union Lounge.

Fencing

The fencing club holds regular meetings every Monday and Thursday nights at the Currie. Instruction is available for all interested fencers.

Volleyball

The intramural volleyball tournament continues with Arts 1, Arts 2, Phys. Ed 1, and Phys. Ed. 2 playing tonight at 7:30. Miss Gerstman will coach the girls at 9 pm, looking for prospective intercollegiate talent.

In last week's games, Commerce, captained by Shirley Nadell, won both of their matches. They defeated Arts 3 and Physio 1 by scores of 32-14 and 31-7. In a very close match with Elaine Shamy's Physio students, the Science team won 20-16. However in their second match Science lost to A. Israel's team, Arts 3. By the looks of things the intramural title is going to be closely contested.

Basketball

Basketball will be officially started on Thursday, Nov. 10 at the Currie, when the first round of the Intramural tournament will be played. At 5:15 Arts plays Science, while at 5:30 Physio is scheduled to play Phys. Ed.

Squash and Badminton

The first intramural squash tournament will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 7. Practice night is Wednesday, with coach Henry Lafleur on hand.

Badminton practices takes place on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Mixed badminton is also played on Thursday. Remember to bring your Athletic Coupon Books for the right to use the badminton or squash raquets.

WATER POLO REDMEN PLAY THURSDAY TILT

The McGill water polo team will face its first real test on Thursday, November 10th when the Redmen meet Y.M.C.A. at the "Y" pool. This will be the first in a series of exhibition games the Pine Ave. poloists will play against the city's top polo teams.

Last season the Redmen played in the senior city league and finished in third place, behind Y.M.H.A. and Y.M.C.A. respectively. On paper, this year's edition of the team looks even stronger than last year's. However, coach Malcom Ross of the Y.M.C.A. has never yet been known to field a weak team, and the Redmen feel they will have a real fight on their hands come Thursday.

McGill plays three exhibition games other than this one before they meet Toronto. These games will have an important bearing on who will represent the Red and White side when they play Toronto in defence of the Herschorn trophy. This trophy is symbolic of intercollegiate water polo supremacy. With most of last year's team back, as well as several new prospects, Coach Barry Thompson will have to do some fancy choosing. Until this year, lack of depth has been one of the team's weaknesses, but this year depth, as well as speed, should be part of the team's assets.

Rugger Notice

There will be a very important meeting of the McGill Rugger Club today at 1:00 pm in the Lecture Room of the Gymnasium.

Harrier Notice

The Intramural Harrier Meet will be held today at 1:00 pm at the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. All students interested are asked to report to Mr. Joe Anderson not later than 12:45 pm.

SQUASH

The final round robin draw is made and posted in the squash courts. Will the final players note and begin matches immediately:

Northey, Brodeur, Carpenter, Bishop, Roy, Doug and Pete Brock, Irving, Swaine, LaFleur, Heenan, Weeks, Johnston, Newton and Cairns.

Anderson's Basketball Squad Prepares For '55 Campaign

It's Joe Anderson hope that his senior cagers will create as much enthusiasm among McGill sportdom this year as the football Redmen did in the latter half of the season.

With the backbone of last year's squad returning to the fold plus a number of newcomers who have been shining regularly in practices, Anderson feels confident that he will have a much improved team and possibly a championship contender.

"Mel Mikalachki and Timmy Lake are the only major losses", Anderson said. "Leon Duplessis, who lead the league in scoring last year with 190 points, will be back with the squad. Johnny Thomson, Finnan Heffernan, Lou Gordon, Jerry Kushner, George Rosenberg, Tom Leung and Ozzie Zommers will also be back. Combine these holdovers with rookies Don Wright, who paced the Intermediates with a twenty point per game average last year, John Finch and Hugh Raphael and you can be sure that we will have a winning team."

It is expected that Anderson will have his team built around lanky centre Leon "Dupe" Duplessis. The giant 6'4" bucket-man has a deadly hook shot which he can sink with either hand. Duplessis, who last year had an 18 point per game average, was named by his teammates at the close of the season as the captain of this year's quintet.

Among the newcomers, Anderson is particularly high on Don Wright and John Finch. Wright, brought up the senior's for the golden ball series last year, amassed a total of thirty-four points in one senior contest against the YMHA team. Finch, who starred for a Windsor high school team last year, has been very impressive in workouts. Johnny Thomson and Jerry Kushner will be the nucleus of the Redmen's defensive strength. The two shifty guards will be spelled by Finnan Heffernan who will be used as both a guard and a forward.

There are still a few positions on the squad which Anderson is undecided upon. He plans to have about fourteen or fifteen players dressed for the first game which is scheduled for Dec. 10, an exhibition tilt against Plattsburg at the Currie gym.

Anderson hopes to tangle with some local teams in tune-up games before unveiling his squad to the public on Athletics Night, Dec. 10. These pre-season games will be arranged in order that the Redmen do not suffer from a lack of competition before the intercollegiate campaign begins. This year the team did not enter the Golden Ball series, which in the past has provided them with much of their early season experience.

INSIGHT GIVEN ON TRADE COMMISSION

A lecture on Canada's Trade Commissioner Service was given yesterday in the Arts Building by Mr. R. K. Thomson. As commercial secretary in the Canadian legation in Karachi, Mr. Thomson was able to give both an insight into a Trade Commissioner's work and an idea of Canada's trade relations with eastern nations.

The Trade Commissioner must be a veritable "jack of all trades." In Singapore he had the task of arranging broadcasts of Canadian music, maintaining a rental library of films from the National Film Board, and was often required to issue passports. At his present post in Karachi much of his time is spent on the Colombo Plan in conjunction with the Department of External Affairs.

UNION PROPOSES . . .

Union. The proposed Constitution allows for an alternative lesser requisite until that time; this requisite being that he need only have actively served on a sub-committee for one year, but that he be in at least his third year.

One Year Experience

The reason for requiring only one year of experience of a nominee for President until the new Union becomes a reality is that it is possible that there will not be 2 contestants with two years of experience to run for President. This is for two reasons:

1. The pyramid structure of the House Committee only being proposed at this time necessitates at least a two year lapse in the enforcement of the two year experience requisite for President.
2. The new Union will provide for several additions to the Board of Managers, there being more work to delegate in the larger building, with its additional facilities.

The reason for this proposed Constitution being presented at this time is that such an executive pyramid structure necessarily will take a few years until it is operating properly.

Union Vice-President

The Union Vice-President no longer lives in the building; so that the President is faced with less assistance for a job which is becoming more and more complex.

Impossible Task

In the event of a new Union, if some under-structure allowing for efficient delegation by the President is not already in operation, the President will be faced with a near impossible task.

The proposed House Committee is of pyramid structure and includes certain requisites for two reasons:

1. It will provide for an experienced President, as well as a semi-experienced Board of Managers.
2. It will necessitate more people to work in the building, and consequently will provide for a more complete under-structure.
